Help your horse thrive in their senior years.   Dental problems, arthritis, hoof changes, eye conditions and metabolic issues are all more common as horses age. Regular wellness exams can help catch these changes early, when they may be easier to manage. If your horse is 15 or older, it’s time to take a closer look at their senior wellness needs. Equine Influenza Virus (EIV) can spread quickly through the air when an infected horse coughs.

With flu season approaching, prevention is key. Talk with your veterinarian about your horse's risk and whether PRESTIGE® vaccines should be part of their vaccination plan.

Pregnancy – What to Expect in Each Trimester

Does your horse travel, show, board, breed or regularly come into contact with other horses? These activities can increase exposure to certain diseases.

That's where risk-based vaccines come in. They're recommended based on your horse's individual risk factors, because each horse has unique needs.

Talk with your veterinarian about your horse's lifestyle and whether risk-based vaccines should be part of their vaccination plan.

❄️ 🐾 Cold, wet conditions can mean extra challenges for your horse's hooves. Make hoof care part of your winter routine by checking hooves regularly, keeping them clean and dry when possible, and staying on schedule with farrier visits.

If your horse shows fever, cough, or nasal discharge:

1. Isolate Immediately: Keep your horse away from others and practice strict biosecurity measures to prevent spreading the virus.
2. Call Your Veterinarian: Professional guidance is key for monitoring clinical signs and managing complications.
3. Provide Rest and Comfort: Limit forced exercise and ensure your horse has a warm, stress-free environment.
4. Support Hydration and Nutrition: Make sure your horse has access to fresh water and easy-to-eat feed.
5. Monitor Closely: Track temperature, breathing rate, and overall behavior. Contact your veterinarian if symptoms worsen.

Stay ahead of flu season, ask your veterinarian about PRESTIGE® vaccines! Learn More www.prestigevaccines.com

Cold weather doesn't mean your horse is in the clear. Some parasites can persist through winter, making year-round, strategic parasite control important.

Work with your veterinarian to create a deworming plan based on your horse's individual needs.

❄️💖 For senior horses with arthritis, winter can bring more than colder temperatures. Snow, ice and cold weather may make movement more difficult and discomfort more noticeable.

Keep an eye out for changes in how your horse gets up, moves around or handles their daily routine.
